

Peace No Closer Than It Was In Days Of Stalin

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—The world is where it was when Stalin died: Two armed camps, more arming ahead, no peace in sight.

Stolid Stalin had one policy: push. Between the end of World War II and the beginning of Korea, he pushed where he could:

The Berlin blockade, the threat to Turkey and Greece, the Communist seizure of Czechoslovakia, stony Russian stubbornness against agreements in the United Nations.

The western nations finally formed an alliance against Stalin, which was what he didn't want.

Western Unity Welded

By sweet talk tactics Stalin might have deluded the West and split the alliance, perhaps softened Western Europe for a crushing blow of his paw later. Stalin did the opposite—he let Korea happen.

Korea pulled the new allies together, in shock, fright and anger. The West stopped the Communist aggression and really began to re-arm.

Stalin left his successor, Georgi Malenkov, a gruesome legacy: A West far better able to defend itself than before Korea. At once the new Kremlin masters tried a shift. They talked of the possibility of peace.

At one stroke Malenkov softened the West. Disagreements among the Allies appeared. America didn't go for the Russian bait, but Europe did.

Talks Do No Good

President Eisenhower said sure he'd talk peace with Malenkov, provided Malenkov first showed by deeds he meant it. British Prime Minister Churchill offered to settle for less.

Sir Winston suggested a meeting between him, Eisenhower, Malenkov and French Premier Laniel. Some good might come of it, he said. Eisenhower still said no. Malenkov said nothing.

Western diplomats last July proposed a foreign ministers meeting to consider world questions, including German unification and an Austrian peace treaty.

This week the Russians, in effect, said no. Churchill re-examined his thinking about a talk with Malenkov and said maybe no good would come of it after all.

The Kremlin rejection could not help but knit the West closer than it has been since Stalin died.

Second Of Lansing's
Quadruplets Dead Of Respiratory Failure

LANSING (AP)—The second of Lansing's Van Alstine quadruplets died today.

Donald Ray, first of the quadruplets born Oct. 26 to Mrs. June Trolman Van Alstine, died at Edward W. Sparrow Hospital where it has lived in an incubator since its birth.

The death was attributed to cardio-respiratory failure. The fourth of the quads, a boy, died previously.

The mother of Lansing's second set of quadruplets born within a quarter of a century here has been home for two days and has been reported in good condition. The hospital said the two remaining babies, both girls, were in good condition.

Warships For Korea

PUSAN, Korea (AP)—The chief of South Korea's Navy said today the United States will loan additional warships, including destroyers, to South Korea for "fighting communism more effectively."

U. S. naval officials in Tokyo refused to comment.

Truck Hits Train, Brakeman Killed Fast Of Newberry

NEWBERRY (AP)—A freight train brakeman was killed and two persons injured when a truck hit a train at a crossing on M-28 about 14 miles east of Newberry Thursday. The engine and six cars of the train were derailed.

Killed was Eldridge Hicks of Marquette.

Lawrence Snyder, driver of the truck, and Joe Finks, locomotive fireman, suffered minor injuries.

Snyder told police he rounded a curve with his loaded truck and was unable to stop in time to avoid the crash.

The impact knocked the locomotive off the tracks and six of its eight cars followed.

Fierce Fighting Breaks Out In
Uneasy Trieste

TRIESTE (AP)—Pro-Italian rioters and local police clashed again today in this disputed Adriatic port city. Police gunfire killed four persons before American and British troops, moving into the riot area with fixed bayonets, restored order.

A hand grenade tossed from a milling group of 10,000 exploded in the midst of Trieste's British-trained territorial police, wounding two of them gravely. Unconfirmed reports said one had died. This would bring the toll in two days to seven dead and 28 to 30 injured. Two were killed and 18 injured Thursday.

Resentment Grows

It was the first time American troops had been called in to help quell the bitter demonstrations. British and American forces, which occupy this city, have previously been posted merely as guards around buildings where their personnel were working.

In addition to the violence here demonstrations flared in Rome and other Italian cities. Resentment was expressed against the British and Americans. A crowd in Rome surrounded the U. S. Embassy and shouted "assassins, assassins."

Police broke up the crowd with tear gas and clubs and arrested several.

Embassy Attacked

U. S. Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce conferred with Italian Premier Giuseppe Pella. She returned to the embassy in time to see the demonstrators seize a fire truck and turn hoses on police and toss tear gas bombs back.

Ten thousand demonstrated in Milan and marched on the British Consulate, but were turned back by police.

Rome demonstrators smashed windows in the British Embassy.

Winds And Sleet
Hit Plains Area

(By The Associated Press)

Snow, sleet and gusty winds hit areas in the Great Plains today as the fall season's coldest weather spread from the Rockies to the Atlantic Coast.

The chilly air extended as far south as the Gulf with temperatures near freezing in some Southern states. Snow flurries hit sections of West Virginia and north-eastern North Carolina. It was near zero in some Midwest cities.

But the most severe weather was from eastern Wyoming and eastern Colorado eastward through the western sections of South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas. Snow, sleet and rain were general throughout the storm belt.

Heaviest falls of snow were 3 inches at both Sydney, Neb., and Goodland, Kan. Strong winds whipped the snow into drifts in some areas.

Southern Florida escaped the cool air which dipped into the South. It was 34 above early today at Nashville and 36 at Chattanooga. One of the Midwest cold spots was Cadillac, Mich., which reported 8 above.

Man Trapped By Tar
In Abandoned Quarry

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—A man stuck in a patch of tar for several hours in near freezing temperatures was reported in fair condition today.

So tightly was 67-year-old Otis Hull held by the tar, it took two men to pull him loose. He was found in an abandoned quarry Thursday. The tar clung to his head and clothing and made it impossible for him to move his arms or legs.

At a hospital, attendants used benzene, alcohol, soap and water to remove the sticky substance.

Hull suffered from pneumonia and exposure. He was unable to give a coherent account of what happened.

Board Of Education Accepts Employees' Offer To Buy Press

The Escanaba Board of Education last night adopted a resolution recommending to James E. Frost, executor of the John P. Norton estate, that the bid of the employees of the Escanaba Daily Press, submitted by the employees' corporation, Escanaba Daily Press, Inc., for the acquisition of the newspaper be accepted, subject to several conditions. The Board of Education is the principal legatee of the estate.

The employees' proposal provides for the payment of $20,000 to purchase a ten-year lease, with annual rental payments of $25,000. The lease contains an option to purchase the property for $225,000 at the expiration of the lease period. The contract will result in a permanent investment fund of $409,000 for scholarships for deserving graduates of the Escanaba High School.

In the proposal submitted by the employees' corporation, the employees offered to provide satisfactory surety to guarantee that the annual rental payments will be made during the entire ten years of the lease, even in the event of a default by the employees.

Guarantee Of Lease

Dear Publications and Radio, Inc., of Jersey City, N. J., owners of four daily newspapers, has agreed to provide the required surety and also to serve as management and financial consultant to Escanaba Daily Press, Inc., during the period of the lease.

The recommendation of the Board of Education for acceptance of the employees' bid is conditioned upon the acceptability of the terms of the lease contract, the acceptability of the contract with Dear Publications and the receipt of a satisfactory financial statement from Dear Publications. Approval by the Delta County Probate Court will be requested.

The bid of the employees was one of eight submitted for the purchase of the Escanaba Daily Press when bids were opened by the executor on Sept. 16. Other bids range from $218,000 to $400,000 cash.

Substantial Scholarship

In the employees' bid a scholarship fund of $12,000 annually from the proceeds of the newspaper sale was suggested. The proposal provides that this sum could be paid annually during the period in which the newspaper was operated under lease and that a sum of $409,000 then would be available for a permanent fund, the interest on which would sustain

Truman Secrecy Measure To Be Erased Dec. 15

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today issued an order designed to give citizens a freer flow of information about their government without jeopardizing national security.

Effective Dec. 15, the order replaces a controversial measure former President Truman put on the books Sept. 24, 1951.

In announcing the forthcoming repeal of the Truman order, Atty. Gen. Brownell denounced it as smacking of "dictatorship."

The Cabinet officer also said that under the old order government officials could "cover up dereliction" of duty and mistakes.

Suggested By Editors

Truman, responding to similar criticism from editors when his order was issued, denied there was any cover-up involved. He said the measure actually would promote the flow of news and sought only to keep security secrets from potential enemies.

Brownell outlined the new Eisenhower order at a news conference before leaving for Chicago to address a meeting of the Associated Press Managing Editors Assn. today. He said the measure includes suggestions made by that organization, the American Society of Newspaper Editors and representatives of other news media.

Category Eliminated

In brief, the Eisenhower order: 1. Eliminates the "restricted" category for classifying government data as harmful to national security if made public—leaving only "top secret," "secret" and "confidential."

2. Sets up a system for receiving complaints, from newsmen and others outside the government, and for checking up on the program.

3. Takes away document-classifying authority from 28 agencies, such as the American Battle Monuments Commission and the Veterans Administration.

4. Gives classifying authority to the heads only, with no power to delegate it to someone else, of 17 agencies, like the Civil Aeronautics Board and the Tennessee Valley Authority.

5. Permits the heads of other agencies, such as the Defense Department, to name an employee as classifying officer.

6. Defines what information is to be classified, how it is to be transmitted and stored, marked and, when indicated, destroyed.

Secrets Safeguarded

A White House statement said the purpose of the order is to attain "a proper balance between the need to protect information important to the defense of the United States, and the need for citizens of this democracy to know what their government is doing."

The statement added: "The issuance of this order will revise, in a manner more in keeping with the American tradition of freedom of information, existing requirements for the safeguarding of defense information."

Brownell said the order incorporates a system of review to in-

Bobbies Battle Mob Of London Students In Guy Fawkes Riot

LONDON (AP)—Thousands of celebrating students battled police for more than seven hours Thursday night in one of the most riotous Guy Fawkes Nights this staid British capital has seen in many years.

More than 120 persons faced police charges as an aftermath of the wild outburst in London's plush West End, climaxed by a march of 10,000 university students and other young folks on the House of Parliament.

Scorched By Firecrackers

In Piccadilly Circus, heart of London night life, 65 stalwart bobbies stood shoulder to shoulder against determined assaults on the famous statue of Eros—Greek god of love—which dominates the traffic circle. Climbing the statue is a favorite stunt of celebrating Britons.

One group of revelers wheeled up a wood-canvas mook fire engine and tried to lay a ladder against the statue. They were beaten off.

Several policemen were scorched by firecrackers and roman candles. One small girl was badly burned on the face.

Effigies Burned

The annual celebration—in honor of a 17th century Englishman who tried to blow up the Houses of Parliament—started off calmly with millions of Britons dancing around bonfires, burning effigies of "The Guy" and drinking ale.

The rioting erupted, student spokesmen claimed, after police had refused them a permit for a big procession through London streets and a bonfire. A police spokesman denied such permission had been withheld and said the only restriction was an old one forbidding processions or meetings within a mile of Parliament while the lawmakers are in session.

Council Tables WDBC Offer To Sell Building

An offer of the Delta Broadcasting Company, which operates radio station WDBC, to sell its studio building at Sand Point to the city for $7,000 was tabled for further study by the Escanaba City Council in meeting last night.

The Broadcasting Company's building is located on land leased from the city. WDBC is now in process of moving its studios to a downtown location.

The city would have use for a building to store park maintenance equipment in that area, but City Manager A. V. Aronson advised the Council that the cost to construct a storage building is estimated at $4,400.

Old Lease In Effect
City Attorney Denis McGinn advised the Council that under the terms of the lease now in effect, approved Feb. 1, 1947, the building reverts to the city when broadcasting is stopped there.

A new lease agreement requested by the Broadcasting Company in May this year, which would have given the city first option on the building rather than provide that it revert to city ownership, was never executed.

The matter was tabled for further consideration. In other business the Council: Authorized purchase of an anglezoid blade from the Brebner Machinery Company, Green Bay, whose bid of $1,975 was the only one received. Mayor Robert E. LeMire questioned the need for the equipment and cast a "No" vote. Funds in nearly sufficient amount for the purchase were provided for in the budget previously adopted by the Council.

Study Bids
Referred to the electric department for analysis and report three bids received to supply the city with a set of coils for transformers. Champion, Inc. Iron Mountain, bid $442. Graybar and General Electric $610 each.

Sent back to the electric department for further analysis 14 bids to supply the city with five transformers. Twelve of the bidders quoted identical prices.

Accepted a recommendation of the Civil Service Commission to include firemen and policemen in call-back pay provisions.

Authorized an agreement with Norman Dahlke to operate a North Escanaba branch station where where city utility bills may be paid.

Mathison Resigns
Adopted a resolution establishing assessments for financing a sanitary sewer, 20th N. St. between 10th and 11th Avenues N. Accepted with expression of regret the resignation of Allan Mathison from the Civil Service Commission and requested the personnel director to submit new names in nomination from which a selection will be made to fill the vacancy.

Referred to the electrical department a petition to erect street lights on 12th Ave. S. west to 23rd St. for a report on estimated costs. Referred to the Planning Commission for recommendation a request by Harold Meiers that lots at 14th Ave. N. and US-2-41 be rezoned for local business.

Heard Ed Martinson, Emil Perow and others in connection with a protest of a half-block alley running east from 15th St. between 10th and 11th Avenues. Martinson objected to the alley, Perow and others favored it. The Planning Commission has recommended that the alley should not be vacated. The recommendation was previously approved by the Council.

Potato Crop Best Quality In History
EDMORE (AP)—Michigan's potato crop this year was the best for quality in the history of the state, Lexington V. Nelson, Michigan State College specialist, said Thursday.

Nelson said that ideal fall weather averted frost damage to crops of virtually all commercial potato growers. The Michigan State crop specialist was here as a judge for the annual Southwest Michigan Potato Show.

Council Names Five-Man Citizen Board To Advise On City's Power Problem

Escanaba City Council last night named a five-man citizens advisory board, which may be enlarged in the future, to study and recommend a solution to the city's electric power shortage problem.

The board is to assist the Council in an advisory capacity only. Ultimate decision in any action to solve the power problem rests with the Council and the people of Escanaba.

Recessing for eight minutes to select the advisory board, names of the board members were announced by Mayor Robert E. LeMire as follows:

Todd Gayeff of the AEG Electric Company, chairman; Robert Losse, general manager of Har-nischfeger's truck crane plant in Escanaba; Erwin F. Zuehlke, superintendent of Upper Michigan Power & Light Company; Hugh Grow, secretary of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce; and Edwin Kositzky, chairman of the ore handlers union, C&NW ore docks.

The Council emphasized that none of the citizens appointed to the advisory board had been previously consulted and there is the possibility that some may not accept the appointment.

Ex-officio members of the board will be the City Council, City Manager A. V. Aronson, Harvey Germanson of the city's electric utility and Joseph Patrick of the gas and steam utilities.

The proposal to name an advisory board was from Councilman Guy Knutson, who directed attention to establishment of a similar board in Kalamazoo, as reported in a Michigan Municipal Utilities newsletter.

Mayor LeMire said Councilman Knutson's proposal was "an excellent suggestion" and that he personally would welcome "a citizens committee to assist and advise the Council" in efforts to arrive at a solution to the city's power shortage problem.

Briefly the present electric power situation in Escanaba is as follows:

The city has a wholesale power contract with Upper Michigan Power & Light Company, subsidiary of Mead Corporation, to supply the city to Aug. 1, 1959. The rate is favorable to the city and Mead Corporation is asking an upward revision, contending they are losing money.

Mead Corporation asks the city to find another power source as soon as possible.

There are three, possibly four, solutions to the present dilemma as follows:

1—Continue the present contract, with or without revision of rates, until the 1959 deadline and then attempt to work out a solution.
2—Let the city build a municipal generating plant, if the people approve, and make the city self-supporting from the power viewpoint.

3—Buy power from some outside source, which appears to be predicated on the basis that no private company would be interested unless the city sells its electric distribution system.

The fourth possible solution, now being explored by the Council is to enter into a 10-year power contract with the Alger-Delta Electric Cooperative Association at Gladstone and receive power from a plant built with funds loaned to the Cooperative by the Rural Electrification Administration. Such a loan is now under study by the REA.

Copy Of Press Sent To California Gets Wide Circulation

Thoroughly read is the copy of the Escanaba Daily Press delivered each day to the home of Joseph A. LaFramboise of 7912 Hight Ave., Los Angeles.

Mr. LaFramboise is a former resident of Gladstone, a former mayor of that city, and a former state representative and senator.

Writing to Duncan Cameron, circulation manager of the Press, Mr. LaFramboise says:

"Believe me the Press is surely read in California. When we finish reading it we give it to Mrs. Helen Rowe who lives only a few blocks away. She is a daughter of A. J. Cayia of Manitowish.

"Then it is given to their next door neighbors, the Ely family who formerly lived in Escanaba. From there it goes out in the valley to the Corbett family, Delta county residents many years. From there I don't know, but it probably travels on to someone else who wants to hear about the happenings of the 'old home town.'

"The Press comes through very promptly," Mr. LaFramboise adds. "We have not missed a copy this year."

CRYSTAL FALLS — Iron county's 62-year-old courthouse at Crystal Falls has some furniture, including desks and chairs, that are almost as ancient as the building in which they are sheltered. So the county board of supervisors this week moved to survey the need for replacement of obsolete furniture through out the court house and other county offices and to plan inclusion of that item in the budget.

IRON RIVER — A resolution originated this week at the Iron county board of supervisors meeting for dissemination throughout Michigan, urging the right of decision at the county level upon control of bears. Supervisor Francis Drake whose flatland Mansfield township has been the range for some rampaging marauder bruins this year proposed the resolution which was adopted unanimously.

New Penal Board Holds First Meet At Marquette

Michigan's new Corrections Commission held its third meeting at Marquette Prison Wednesday and its first in Upper Michigan, and the session provided an ideal opportunity to show local penal officials how the system operates.

The new Corrections Commission setup was created by a law which went into effect Oct. 2, 1953, and replaced the "one man control" exemplified by the old system.

Previously, the corrections commissioner was appointed by and responsible to the Governor. He had control over the Parole Board and the other corrections branches.

System 'Streamlined'
Under the old system (established in 1947), there was a criticism of too many top level officials being appointive, non-civil service employees.

The "streamlined" system now programs sponsored by the American Diabetes Association.

ONTAGON — The year 1953 is the centennial of the Rockland, one of the heaviest producing mines the Ontagon Country ever had. Now hardly identifiable, even its corporate identity is lost in the mesh of the Michigan mine, the successor to the old Minnesota.

They are responsible to the Governor, and supervise the entire penal system, with a corrections director functioning immediately under them.

Five New Divisions
There are five divisions, or departments, which are responsible directly to the corrections director and in turn, the Corrections Commission.

These departments are: (1) Bureau of Probation, (2) Bureau of Prison Industries, (3) Bureau of Pardons and Paroles, (4) Bureau of Penal Institutions, and (5) Bureau of Youth Activities.

The Parole Board functions as a separate group entirely, responsible to the Corrections Commission.

Two Teachers Resign Here

The resignations of Norma K. Maki as music teacher and Viola Salo as home economics teacher were accepted by the Escanaba Board of Education last night. The appointment of Mildred Johnson, an honor graduate of Northern Michigan College of Education, as a replacement for Mrs. Maki as music teacher was approved.

Mrs. Maki, the former Norma Latola, resigned to join her husband who is in the U. S. Air Force. Miss Salo is going to Dearborn, where she plans to marry a teacher in the Dearborn schools.

The Board approved the appointment of Lionel Prezeau to the custodial staff at the Junior High School.

Other actions taken at the meeting follow:

Authorized Principal E. E. Edick of the Senior High School to attend the state principals meeting in Detroit and Principal Clarence Zerbel of the Junior High School to attend the national meeting in Milwaukee.

Opened bids for a new pickup truck and referred the bids to a committee of the Board for analysis.

Authorized WDBC and WESK to broadcast Escanaba High School basketball games but stipulated that space in the gymnasium for outside stations would not be provided unless arrangements could not be made for outside stations to be served by relays from local stations.

Payroll Deduction Plan Efficient Way To Give Chest Officials State

Demonstrating the efficiency and soundness of the payroll deduction plan of charitable giving is the fact that the first two employees group returns to be received at the Delta County Community Chest headquarters are from

INSTRUCTIONS
Each worker's kit contains tally sheets, receipt books, red feathers and window stickers. Upon making a contribution, each donor will receive a feather for his lapel and a sticker to display at home to signify that he has made a donation. Those desiring to make a pledge may use pledge cards. Such cards may be procured at the Chest office, 1111 Ludington St. The telephone number is 3722.

industries where the payroll deduction plan is in effect.

Earliest returns from Gladstone were contributions of $500 from employees of the Northwestern Veneer and Plywood Corporation and $200 from employees of Marble Arms Corporation and Marble-Card Electric Corporation. These Gladstone industries have used the payroll deduction plan of charitable giving for several years.

Large industries in metropolitan centers and in medium-sized and smaller cities where the Community Chest and united giving plans are well established use the payroll deduction method regularly, Chest officials point.

Practical Plan
"It is by far the most business-like and efficient method of handling the problem of charitable giving," it was reported. "Combining several drives in one is efficient in itself, eliminating the necessity of many drives."

"And giving the employee the opportunity of having very small amounts taken out regularly during the year rather than making a lump sum donation is very convenient and efficient. The end result is satisfactory for all parties. . . . larger contributions for the Community Chest and payroll deduction over a long period of time does not upset the family budget."

The plan is considered practical for business firms as well as big industries, it was pointed out. To facilitate payroll deduction, pledge cards are available at the Community Chest headquarters, 1111 Ludington St., Escanaba.

Gladstone Leading
The employees' contribution from Gladstone boosted the Gladstone total to $1,300, or $300 more than has been donated to date in Escanaba where no industrial employee

Theodore Boggs of Gladstone was the accompanist.

Pallbearers were S. M. Johnson, Alvin Anderson, Cy Brandt, Elmer Anderson, James Johnson and Erling Arntzen.

Miss Myrtle Bartlett of Oshkosh, Wis., attended the services.

Report $43,389 Utility Profit

Escanaba's three utilities—electricity, gas and steam—had profits totaling $43,389.90 for the third quarter of the year (July through September) which was transferred to the city general fund last night by the City Council.

City Manager A. V. Aronson reported to the Council that electric utility profit was $55,210.99; gas utility $767.96; and the steam utility showed a loss of $12,589.04 for the period.

The steam utility loss for the three non-heating months of the year includes the payment to the city of taxes and interest on investment, said Aronson.

There will be additional heating customers this year and the city manager predicted the steam utility will break even and "not cost the city anything."

In other business the Council approved a request of Eisendrath Company (Escanaba Glove Company) to sub-lease the Coliseum building to Richard Flath. The city purchased the building from Flath several years ago and the Glove Company operated an industry there until recently. It has a lease option agreement for the purchase of the building.

Nov. 19 was set as the date for hearing objections on a proposed amendment to the city parking ordinance, which would limit to 15 minutes the parking time in front of City Hall, Post Office, Bell Telephone and Carnegie Public Library.

The Council suggested that the city manager consult with the Conservation Department in connection with a Department request to acquire a 30-foot strip of land from the city adjacent to Conservation Headquarters opposite the fair grounds. The possibility of a trade, in which the city would obtain state land on the south bay shore near the Athletic Field was suggested.

Americans In Morocco Backed By Government

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has frozen a tiny fraction of its financial aid to France in an effort to obtain better treatment for American businessmen in Morocco.

Diplomatic officials disclosed the State Department has banned the spending of some $600,000 set aside to help France better her industrial output.

American businessmen in Morocco, mostly war veterans who remained there after World War II, are mainly importers and distributors of American products.

Their Washington representatives have protested repeatedly against what they contend is economic discrimination by the French.

Editorials—

Traffic Safety Record For Nine Months Nothing To Brag About

AN analysis of the traffic safety record in Escanaba in the first nine months of this year indicates that we have little cause for rejoicing.

Best Things In Life Aren't Big

IN the current issue of the magazine Planes, an interesting paradox about our modern military aircraft is dwelt upon. As the planes get bigger, many of their parts are getting smaller.

For instance, one manufacturer has developed electrical circuits so tiny that as many as 50 may be fitted on a plastic base nine inches square.

Then there are washer-like parts so small it takes 3000 of them stacked together to make a little resistor.

Cabin-pressure regulators, which used to weigh 10 pounds apiece in World War II, are now down to one pound.

And there are miniature communication systems small enough to be held in a pilot's hand.

Obviously, America's engineers do not believe that our salvation lies in making everything bigger.

Words, Wit & Wisdom

By William Morris

The extraordinary popularity of the new word game Scrabble is rapidly becoming one of the social phenomena of our generation. When 20 years hence, some latter-day Frederick Lewis Allen writes an ONLY YESTERDAY about the 1950's he will surely devote as much space to Scrabble as Mr. Allen did to a kindred "craze" of the 20's, Mah Jong.

Nearly a million Scrabble sets have been sold in about six months' time—and the insatiable American public is clamoring for more. Store after store, city after city, report Scrabble sets selling out the first day they arrive in stock. And this furor all caused by a game whose inventor thought it too "intellectual" for the masses—a game which, actually, is not at all new and one which, in essence, is a sort of blend of anagrams and crosswords.

What has made Scrabble so popular, I suspect, is that it can be played—despite its inventor's fears—by people of any age of intellectual level from sub-teen youngsters to nuclear physicists. And the element that intrigues all players is the scoring system which places a premium on cleverness in outwitting your opponent.

Today there comes to hand two books designed to help Scrabblers to improve their games. HOW TO WIN AT SCRABBLE by Jacob Orleans and Edmund Jacobson (Grosset & Dunlap, publishers) has sections on the strategy of play, such variations as tournament and partnership Scrabble and a detailed explanation of the newly revised rules of play. With dozens of tricky problems and their solutions carefully worked out, this little dollar volume should be worth many times its cost to the beginning player—and doubtless even old hands at the game can profit from some of the pointers on advanced strategy.

The companion volume, THE SCRABBLE WORD GUIDE, indicates just how seriously the game is regarded by its devoted players. Here is an alphabetical list of more than 30,000 words, specially selected for Scrabble, plus lists for special high-scoring plays containing such words as "xyxst," "ixtyle" and "stlib," not often encountered outside the unabridged dictionary.

If you ask me, this is carrying things pretty far. After all, a game is just a game and it seems scarcely cricket to "bone up" on a list of rare and obscure words just to outwit a party-game adversary. With this slight demerit out of the way, though, let's hail SCRABBLE's remarkable popularity as a healthy indication that the American public knows a good thing when it finds one—even if a little brain work is involved. Maybe the pundits will finally get around to revising upward that much-quoted estimate of the American public's average "twelve-year-old mentality."

The Doctor Says ... Infection of Sinus May Be Relieved in Ideal Climate

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D. — Written for NEA Service

Chronic infection of the sinuses is one of man's most miserable afflictions. Furthermore, thousands of people suffer headache, pain, and a general rundown feeling as a result of chronic infection in these mucous-lined pockets in the head.

A large number of treatments have been and are used for sinusitis. The symptoms are partly the result of the pressure of accumulated pus and mucus within these pockets, so that temporary relief is often obtained by washing them out, often with fluids containing drugs which shrink the mucous membranes.

Sometimes germ-killing drugs such as the sulfas or the antibiotics are helpful. Operations are frequently employed, most of them aimed at enlarging the opening from the sinuses into the nose so that the mucus and pus can drain out more easily.

In spite of all these measures, many victims of sinusitis continue to suffer until they are driven to desperation. Many have written me, asking whether they could expect relief by changing the climate in which they live, and if so, how they would

The figures reveal a slight drop in the number of accidents, from 364 for the first nine months of 1952 to 343 for the first nine months of this year. Only one fatality occurred as a result of a traffic accident this year compared to two for last year. We might find some cause for optimism with these improvements if it were not for the fact that the number of persons injured increased from 55 to 64.

Actually we have not made the progress in traffic safety that we should make. The number of arrests for traffic violations has increased which means either that law enforcement officers are more vigilant or that automobile drivers are less observant of traffic laws. The fact remains that there are many motorists who ignore safety requirements and who drive too fast or who otherwise endanger the lives of themselves and other persons by ignoring safety rules.

The experience of the past nine months in Escanaba gives no cause for optimism that we are headed for safety in our traffic problem. Sixty-four persons were injured in Escanaba this year in traffic mishaps. Fortunately most of them sustained only minor injuries but these accidents could have been much more serious. It is luck more than anything else that determines whether a person is going to be slightly injured or seriously injured in an automobile accident.

In nearly every fatal accident, some passengers escape with minor injuries or none at all while others are killed outright.

The motor traffic problem continues to be one of the most important problems confronting this country. No one has yet come up with a solution that is satisfactory and probably no one ever will. The solution can come only in very modest and every pedestrian using excellent judgment and exercising caution. People being what they are this seems to be an impossibility.

TOO MUCH HONESTY? (Christian Science Monitor)

We are glad President Eisenhower has spoken out in defense of his Secretary of Agriculture, Mr. Benson is one of the most conscientious and devoted public servants Washington has seen in many a year. As Mr. Eisenhower said, it is unreasonable to expect him to pull a magical solution to the farm problem out of his pocket.

Mr. Benson knows there is no magic formula and is too honest to offer one. We are unwilling to believe the American political system cannot utilize such honesty, that a man who knows so much about the farm problem and has so great a desire to help the farmer will be forced out because he refuses to make promises that can't be fulfilled.

Some of the politicians who are demanding Mr. Benson's scalp appear chiefly interested in tossing it to the wolves to save their own skins. They haven't an answer to the farm problem that won't rob the farmer of his independence and make him a vassal of the state. They can't guarantee the farmer against change—against bad weather, shifting markets, or declining prices—without freezing the nation's agriculture and letting Washington manage it.

The truth is that both parties have over-promised aid for the farmer. Mr. Benson is not cutting down on price supports; he is doing more than Congress planned to do when it revised the wartime measures. He is doing more than was recommended by President Truman in 1948. He is doing more than the agricultural economists considered wise.

These experts, Congress and Mr. Truman regarded flexible price supports as better than rigid government guarantees at 90 per cent of parity. But today prices of major crops are pegged at 90 per cent. This is the program now under fire as inadequate. This is as close as Mr. Benson appears ready to go in guaranteeing the farmer prosperity by federal subsidy. We agree, and we do not think he is employing too much honesty in refusing to promise more

Edson Reports

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — There is considerable doubt in Washington that any meeting between President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Premier Georgi Malenkov will ever be held.

The question of holding such a meeting was safely put on the shelf for several months when U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles met with Sir Winston and the British and French foreign ministers in London. The project will probably stay shelved until there is some great new break in the international situation.

One of the principal things that makes a meeting unlikely is the Russians' silence on that score. In all the exchanges of diplomatic notes with them over Big Four meetings to discuss Germany or Big Five meetings to discuss the Far East, the Russians have never made any mention of a meeting of the heads of governments. Every effort has been made to keep the conferences at the foreign minister's level.

On of the reasons may be that the Russians are nervous about having Malenkov sit down with Churchill and Eisenhower. The Russian premier has never been outside of his country. He has no first-hand knowledge of Western ways or of international conferences. And there is no certain knowledge outside the Iron Curtain as to just how much power Malenkov wields.

MEETING OF TOP MINDS

For this reason, it is believed that the Russians would prefer to keep any international conferences at the foreign minister level. There the Russians would be represented by Vyacheslav M. Molotov, whom even the Western world leaders concede to be one of the most astute diplomats of the 20th century.

The leading advocate of a meeting of the heads of state is of course Winston Churchill. He is said to remember the success of meetings he had during the war with the late President Roosevelt and Premier Stalin. But decisions reached at those early Big Three meetings were on military measures aimed at defeating a common enemy. When these conferences got into political questions, as at Yalta and Potsdam, they produced only misunderstandings.

Sir Winston told Secretary Dulles at their recent London conference that he wanted to have a meeting without any agreed-upon list of subjects to discuss. The British prime minister wanted to find out what kind of people Malenkov and his new Russian team really are.

Churchill's enthusiasm for this kind of meeting has led to some speculation that he might have some secret agreement from Malenkov to attend such a meeting.

While a get-acquainted, no-agenda meeting has been conceded to be not such a bad idea in itself, it could do considerable harm. The effect on the Communist satellite countries might be particularly bad, from the Western point of view.

MIGHT DAMAGE U. S.

If the Big Three were photographed together, smiling as usual, shaking hands and giving the impression that everything was lovely, it might set back immeasurably the Eisenhower administration's desire to keep alive the desire for freedom in the satellite countries.

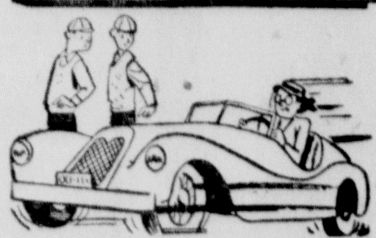

This was considered an important factor in the London decision to put off any consideration of a meeting in which only the generalities of peace would be discussed. It would give only the aura of agreement, without any reality. British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault are believed to have sided with Secretary Dulles in urging this position on the British prime minister, and he was measurably persuaded.

The sense of the London meeting seemed to be that the Western powers could wait along without even a meeting of the foreign ministers, if the Russians didn't care to join.

Time is now playing on the side of the Western powers. With ratification of the European Defense Community agreement in three or four months, the bargaining position of the Western powers would be greatly strengthened. EDC is now given a 50-50 chance of success, whereas a year ago it had about one chance in ten.

In the face of this, there is some doubt if the Russians would agree to get out of Germany and Austria, even if they could write their own ticket on German unification. That makes any idea of top-level conferences even more remote.

On the Horns of a Dilemma

Cheesecake Of Beauty Queens Dreamed Up By Press Agents

By WARD CANNEL

NEA Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK — (NEA) — The house lights dim. Somebody coughs. Somebody giggles. Somebody commands: "Smile! Ha-ha! Smile!"

The quick flash of a strobe light and the click of a camera shutter capture once again the fragile and hard-bitten world of "cheesecake"—the American beauty contest.

This one is the coronation of the 1953 Annual Donut Queen. But with few changes it could be the Cranberry Queen, the Macaroni Princess, Miss Anti-Freeze. A survey shows that at least one Queen, Princess or Miss Something-Or-Other is selected every day in the year.

The flash-gun flares again to catch the ivory smiles of four young ladies—the winner and three runners-up. And if you can picture your daughter or sweetheart among them, you'd better think again. Because the bright light also catches the bright eyes of a press agent.

Most beauty contests are everywhere the same. And the power behind the throne of loveliness is usually as professional as your dentist and as commercial as your pack of cigarettes.

Take Max Rosey, for example. He is the press agent in charge of this contest and dozens of others. And he's got it down to a science.

Rosey leaves three open dates for the coronation of his queens. Reason: a big news story could leave his title-holder unreported in the papers. His rule: wait for a news-quiet day. He can usually predict one 12 hours beforehand.

Once coronation day is selected, he will visit a servicemen's canteen to get judges; call model agencies to get contestants; take a hotel suite for the occasion; rent a crown and sceptre; and phone news desks to get photographers to cover the event.

The donut girls were picked by a 30-year Navy chief who has also judged musicians and horses, and by a very young Air Force pilot. There was supposed to be a soldier on the panel, but he didn't show up.

Man, beauty title-holders, however, never compete for their crowns. A press agent or the manufacturer himself will arbitrarily pick the girl who is to be "Miss Carburator."

Where does she come from? Ninety per cent of the time she comes from a model or theatrical agency. And according to men in the cheesecake business, she's probably from east of the Mississippi and north of Georgia. She's between 17 and 21 years old and she's been a professional less than 18 months.

What does she win? Generally nothing. She brings her own shorts, sweater, bathing suit or evening gown; with her. The time she spends competing is her own, and so is her career.

Occasionally she gets a package of the product she is advertising—donut, hot pads, ice-cubes, road maps. There may also be a $50 U. S. bond (which costs $37.50). Later she may, or may not, get television or public appearance bookings because of her title. The biggest pay-off is meager publicity before a forgetful public.

Of all the beauty contests, a handful are rewarding. Largest is a beer queen contest that can make for its winner $20,000 worth of prizes and fees.

One of its past winners, Anne Hogan, sums up the vast majority of beauty contests in two words: "lower rung." It can be a stepping stone to better modeling jobs or show business.

"But I wonder," she says, "about the girls who hold eight or nine titles and keep going after more. They're the professional beauty contest winners. And what good does it do?"

Back at the donut coronation, the flood lights are on for the movie camera men. Two girls tip-toe out. Of the field of six entries they were judged out immediately. They were the only two who were not professionals.

The posing is nearly over. The runners-up leave to change into street clothes. First an 18-year-old girl with silver hair and black eyebrows. Her mother is with her.

"Contests stink," the mother says. "I go with my daughter to all of them. And she always is a runner-up. Except at home when she won a neighborhood contest."

The silver-haired girl says: "It's not fair. The last one I entered was rigged because they gave a charm school scholarship prize and one of the judges ran a charm school so he just took the money."

Then a blue-eyed blonde comes out. She took second place. Last month she was disqualified from a contest and its $375 prize after she had been named winner.

"They said I was a professional," she says bitterly. Then she smiles a perfect smile. "But I don't care. I got publicity and a good job at a night club."

The last girl, tiny and luscious, has only a minute. "I love publicity," she says. "Anything to get into show business."

Inside, the movie cameras are running down to their last few feet of film on the winner—a tall 17-year-old girl named Arlene Kaminski. This is her first contest and her first title. She goes to high school and modeling school and she's going to change her name.

"Gee," she says, "Could I take this crown home with me?"

"What for?" a camera man asks. "It's the same one they've used on my last four jobs."

Good Evening ...

By CLINT DUNATHAN

A CLEAN TOOTH—Much progress has been made in oral hygiene, as it sometimes described, since the days when folks whitened their teeth by rubbing them with moistened cloth dipped in powdered charcoal. Today the tooth paste and mouth wash industry is indeed big business. There are few people who do not have the benefits of a dentifrice (another fancy word), and we assume they all have clean teeth.

Yet despite this there are many dentists doing a thriving business in filling and extracting unhealthy teeth, which appears to be conclusive proof that a clean tooth will decay as well as a dirty one.

The popularity of all types and tastes of toothpaste indicates a national habit, so far as use of the toothbrush is concerned. No doubt the influence of advertising plays a large part in persuading folks that if they fail to polish their bicuspidals they risk everything from dental caries to social ostracism.

CLAIM AND FACT — The American Dental Association recently announced that it knows of no satisfactory evidence that any dentifrice now on the market will actually prevent tooth decay.

Taking a slap at what it called "sensational advertising claims" for dentifrices containing such substances as chlorophyll, anti-enzyme chemicals, and ammonia, the Association reported:

"It is unfortunate that a few dental research scientists have permitted inconclusive or incomplete research reports to be used by commercial interests to mislead the general public into believing that a certain product contains substances that will prevent tooth decay."

It adds that many of the claims now being made were based on laboratory findings or examination of a single tooth surface without regard to the condition of all teeth in the mouth.

This would be equivalent to a dentist's happy announcement that you have a fine set of teeth because he found one tooth without a blemish.

THE FRIGHTENED CHILD — There must be big profits in the toothpaste business, according to the flood of printed material the larger manufacturers send out under the name of "education."

A typical sample of such free material mailed to newspapers and freely tossed into wastebaskets by newspaper editors is the following from one company that produces not one but two anti-enzyme toothpastes.

"Don't threaten to wash out your child's mouth with soap when they use naughty words," is the warning. "Psychologists caution against things like this because of the inhibitions developed in a child which condition his actions in later life."

The point, which is finally arrived at, is that Junior may be frightened by the threat about washing his dirty little mouth that he will not brush his teeth in later life.

The obvious answer to such a problem is, of course, to threaten him with a tube of anti-enzyme toothpaste. This will condition him against the use of soap and water when he reaches man's estate.

SCIENCE BAFLED—While we are partial to cleanliness both in theory and practice, it is nevertheless obvious that some of the world's unwashed and unbrushed have unusually sound teeth.

Shining example is the Eskimo, whose diet sadly lacks salad greens or chlorophyll and runs heavily to blubber and blarney.

Yet the Eskimo has (or had before the whiteman started giving him gumdrops) the best teeth to be found outside of the dentures whipped up for the Hollywood movie stars.

The experts are also baffled by the apparent dental health of the Ubangi and the head hunters of Borneo, who do the strangest things to their teeth and still manage to survive without toothpaste—either with or without anti-enzymes.

HARSH CLEANERS — American pioneers scrubbed their teeth with a variety of ingredients and instruments, including charcoal, salt, magnesia, soda, and the blunt end of a stick.

They suffered considerably from toothache, however, and were cured by extractions performed by the village blacksmith.

To this day many of the old-fashioned tooth cleaners are still in vogue—applied, of course, by a modern toothbrush. One elderly dentist, still clicking along with his own teeth, assures me that a mixture of salt and soda is the best cleaning agent ever devised. Uses it himself.

The younger generation prefers something out of a tube, preferably on the sweet side. If they have a pleasant taste and foams, they are satisfied.

Young Wife Kills Drunken Spouse

DETROIT (AP)—A young wife and mother shot and killed her older husband in their home in Roseville early Wednesday.

Roseville police said that Mrs. Esther Papp, 25, mother of three children, told in fright of shooting her husband, Louis, 40, after he threatened her life in a drunken rage.

Papp died in Saratoga General hospital of a chest wound almost at the very time police were questioning Mrs. Papp at a neighbor's home.

Detective Sgt. Maurice Pinsonneault said Mrs. Papp tearfully recounted a turbulent married life of seven years during which she said her husband often threatened her when he was drinking.

The three children are Lydia, 6; Ionia, 4, and Susan, 3.

Mrs. Papp was taken to the Macomb County jail. The children were removed to the home of relatives.

Mental Health Discussed Here

The Delta County Association of School Administrators held a dinner meeting Thursday night in the Delta Hotel with the Delta County Steering Committee on Mental Health, whom the administrators had invited to discuss the need for bringing mental health information to the people of the county.

Among possible methods discussed, said Walter Peters, association secretary and superintendent of Rapid River High School, were:

Making films available for showings by civic organizations; making playlets available for performance by such organizations; and dispensing of information through county PTA's.

The association and the steering committee decided to sponsor a training program for discussion leaders, having decided there is a need for informed persons to lead discussions following the showings of films and playlets.

Folio To Give Clinic

Peters said Charles Folio, University of Michigan extension director in the Upper Peninsula, will give such a training program, or clinic, at Rapid River. Tentative date is Wednesday, Dec. 2.

It is hoped that a representative from each PTA in Delta County will attend. Peters estimated the county has perhaps 20 PTA's.

Steering committee members who were guests of the 13 administrators present were Phoebe Anderson, chairman; Rev. Gerald Bowen, Mrs. Roy Riegel, William Anderson, Norman Thomas, Vernon Ihlenfeldt, and Robert Drew.

Another guest was Joseph De Cremer of Perkins.

President of the Association of School Administrators is George Weingartner, superintendent of Rock High School.

Chest-Financed Scout Program Is Extensive

During the past year 812 county boys participated in the varied activities of 23 Cub Packs, Boy Scout troops and Explorer Scout units, Andrew Houston, district Scout executive, reports.

To continue this work and to strive for additional growth, the Boy Scout budget for 1954 calls for $8100. This amount, the same as requested last year, places the Delta County average at $9.97 per boy in scouting for one year, compared to the national average of $12.50.

Community Chest money helps cover overhead expenses of camps operated, each summer and available year round for use of scout troops. This past summer over 100 Delta County Boy Scouts attended Camp Red Buck for a week or more.

Varied Program

Among other budgeted items for which the Boy Scout organization uses Community Chest money are: organization of new Cub Scout, Boy Scout or Explorer Scout units, including materials furnished to these new units; overhead expenses of Scout Camporees, Klondike Derbies, Scout Expositions and rallies; insurance on camp buildings; and

Legislators Added To New Committee On Athletic Rules

LANSING (AP)—Two legislators were added today to committee of educators and interested citizens reviewing high school athletic rules.

Dr. Clair L. Taylor, state superintendent of public instruction, appointed to the committee Sen. Edward Hutchinson (R-Fennville) and Rep. Harry J. Phillips (R-Port Huron), members of the Legislative Rules Committee which previously suspended the high school athletic eligibility rule.

Reinstatement of the suspended rule with a modification of the penalty has been recommended by the study committee. The committee will return Nov. 23 for final review of the revised rules.

One member of the committee, Francis P. Kelly of Lansing, has resigned. It was indicated that the two legislators were chosen to fill his place without favoring either house of the Legislature.

Kelly resigned in protest to the committee's refusal to recommend reinstatement of 10 high school athletes suspended for accepting merchandise awards.

the leadership training of adults who are giving voluntarily of their time in the three phases of the Scouting program—Cub Scouting, the younger boy program; Boy Scouting; and the older boy program; Explorer Scouting.

Also included in the request is the county's share of the maintenance and operation of the Hiawathaland Council Scout office where all individual boy records are handled along with the mailings to boys and adult leaders.

Houston, the Scout council's executive staff member in Delta County, resides in Escanaba and is a full time employee of the Boy Scouts of America. He is responsible for district administration, leadership training, summer camp direction, unit organization and extension, and for the planning and supervision of inter-unit activities. Houston is also assigned to Schoolcraft and North Menominee counties.

143 Adults

Only 1.2 percent of the Scout Council's operating budget is used to support the extension of Scouting on a regional and national basis.

One hundred and forty three adults are currently serving in some voluntary capacity in one of the three phases of the Scout program in Delta County. Without the efforts of these volunteers and the support of Community Chest contributors it would be impossible to provide the citizenship training and character building program of Scouting to the boys of our county, it was reported.

Delta County communities which have registered Scout units active are: Escanaba, Gladstone, Bark River, Wells, Nahma, Rapid River and Garden. The average unit has serviced 33 boys during the past year.

Here Are Leaders

Gladstone—Leroy Hamilton, Mason Meyer, Fred Sundling and Carl Westerback.

Drastic Cuts Ordered By Governor Williams In Agency Requests

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams ordered the Department of Administration today to make "drastic cuts" in agency fund requests totaling $96,000,000 more than current appropriations.

State Controller John W. Lederle reported that the state agencies have requested $583,000,000 appropriated to them in the current year.

Emphasizing there is no possibility of meeting the requests, Williams said:

"The Legislature has levied a new tax upon Michigan business. Many thousands of businessmen are beginning to pay that tax for the first time this fall. I am determined that the budget recommended for 1954-55 shall be within the state's income as augmented by the business receipts tax."

NEW YORK (AP)—A spirited rally in the railroads today pointed the entire stock market higher.

The railroads showed gains going to between one and two points at the outside. The rest of the market was fractionally higher.

There were a few soft spots. Volume held up well in the move ahead. It maintained a pace slightly better than Thursday's.

1,720,000 shares, a total well above the daily average so far this year. Stepping ahead with the railroads were the steels, rubbers, air-crafts, and most oils, motors, and utilities. On the lower side of the ledger were the coppers and many chemicals.

Among higher stocks were New York Central, Southern Railway, Northern Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line, Bethlehem Steel Standard Oil NJ, Goodyear, American Cyanamid, and Boeing.

U. S. government bonds were irregular.

Jet Pilot Killed In Lake St. Clair

MT. CLEMENS (AP)—An Air Force pilot was killed Thursday night, apparently having sacrificed himself to avoid plunging his disabled rocket-laden jet plane into heavily populated Detroit.

He was 2nd Lt. David E. Axthelm, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Axthelm of Fairfield, Iowa. He was stationed at Selfridge Air Force Base with the 13th fighter-interceptor squadron.

At 15,000 feet north of Selfridge, Axthelm radioed he had a "flame-out," or engine failure, and would attempt an emergency landing.

Apparently he overshot, winding up over Detroit. Then he radioed he would attempt to "ditch" the plane in water.

Shortly before the F86D Sabrejet plunged into Lake St. Clair, two youths saw the pilot jump. His parachute opened only partially, and he was killed. But he had nursed his then low-flying plane safely across eastern Detroit to Lake St. Clair.

It plunged into 20 feet of water between Peche Island and Windmill Pointe, off the American shore. Axthelm's body was found off Belle Isle in the Detroit River.

Seaman Frees Birds In Store; Gets Jail

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Ernest McDade, 23-year-old seaman from Mountain City, Tenn., was put behind bars after he freed 13 birds from their cages.

He opened the cages in a dime store Thursday and released four canaries and nine parakeets. All but a few were recaptured.

Larry Kabel, manager of the store's pet department, said McDade opened a cage, saying "Come on out, little birdie, I was in jail once. I know how you feel."

Communists Warned To Speed Up Lagging Prisoner Interviews

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The Indian chief of the war prisoner commission today indirectly—but pointedly—warned the Communists to speed up their dragging interviews with anti-Red POWs or "I may have to throw up my hands."

The warning by Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya came as the Reds appeared ready to call the whole program quits.

Thimayya indicated he might use Indian troops to conduct the interviews if the present tottering procedure breaks down.

The Red interviews have dragged from the start. Almost halfway through the set 90-day period, they have talked to only 2,020 of the 22,400 Chinese and Korean POWs.

Only 61 of the anti-Red POWs interviewed have consented to return home, a propaganda loss so galling to the Reds that it has caused increasing speculation they will quit the talks in an uproar to stop it.

Thimayya laid down a sharp condition for continuing the interviews—that the Reds handle a compound of 506 prisoners a day beginning Monday or agree to forget those who don't meet the Red ex-plainers.

He was obviously irritated by the Red slowdown in the last two days of interviews, in which only 341 POWs were interviewed.

Protects Against Rust, Leaks and Corrosion

The main cause of leaks in your oil storage tank is the rust and corrosion which form inside the tank. Corrosion and rust, which eat through metal, are caused by the normal accumulation of moisture in the tank. For years the oil heat industry has been searching for a solution to this problem.

Now, the Shell Oil Company has the answer! It's SONITOR—a new chemical product that protects against rust and corrosion from the moment it is placed in your tank. If applied in time, SONITOR can double the life of your fuel tank!

We are happy to offer this amazing protection to all fuel oil users.

sure that (1) information is not improperly withheld, and that (2) security data is properly safeguarded.

On the first count, the order provides for appointment by the President of a staff member to "receive, consider, and take action upon, suggestions or complaints from nongovernmental sources relating to the operation of this order."

Order Misused

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said Eisenhower plans to assign that job to Bernard M. Stanley, presidential special counsel.

To make sure security information is properly safeguarded, the National Security Council will conduct a continuing review of the order.

Brownell told newsmen he recommended abandoning the "restricted" label because some government officials had used it "when they didn't have any reason to classify information but wanted to keep it from the public."

Brownell was asked whether abolition of the "restricted" category wouldn't lead to moving information up a notch to the "confidential" category.

He said the definitions of "top secret," "secret," and "confidential" are explicit enough to prevent that. He added:

"We certainly would look with a jaundiced eye on any unwarranted upgrading."

Classifications Defined

The "confidential" stamp can be used only where disclosure "could be prejudicial to the defense interests of the nation."

The new order says "top secret" shall be applied only "to that information or material the defense aspect of which is paramount"—for example, data which if disclosed could lead to "a definite break in diplomatic relations affecting the defense of the United States."

"Secret" should be used, the order stipulates, only where disclosure would, for example, compromise important military or defense plans.

Parents Invited To Visit Schools

Manistique Public Schools today extended an invitation to parents of students to visit classes during observance of American Education Week, Nov. 8-14.

In issuing the invitation, the schools point out that parents also are welcome to visit classes during any week of the school year. National Education Week is sponsored by the National Education Association, the American Legion, the U. S. Office of Education and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Central theme for this year's observance is "Good Schools are Your Responsibility."

Daily topics, which relate to various aspects of the modern school program and to some of the schools' most urgent needs, are "Moral and Spiritual Foundations," "Learning the Fundamentals," "Building the National Strength," "Preparing for loyal citizenship," "The School Board in Action," "Your Child's Teachers," and "Parent and Teacher Teamwork."

During American Education week more than 12 million persons are expected to visit classrooms and observe school work. In addition, work of the schools will be emphasized by the newspapers, radio, television, and through special programs and other channels of communication.

"American Education Week is inventory time," the sponsoring committee points out. "It is an occasion to review the purpose and accomplishments of the schools. It is a time to consider school problems, needs and plans, and a time for self-examination," it adds. "Good schools do not just happen. In each community and state the schools are what we make them. They must have our interest and support," the sponsoring committee emphasizes.

Three Kindergarten Classes Conducted By Schools Here

Three kindergarten classes for 91 students are conducted by Manistique Public Schools.

One class of 41 students attends Lincoln school and is taught by Mrs. Ben Gero. Two classes of 25 attend Central and Lakeside schools and are taught by Mrs. Edward LaFave.

School officials note that in kindergarten students begin their first formal public schooling. They learn to work and play happily with classmates, to cooperate in group plans and activities, to share materials and equipment with others, and to respect the rights and property of other children.

Kindergarten pupils also learn to express themselves orally through conversation, through dramatization and by telling stories, school officials point out.

In October kindergarten students made Halloween masks from paper sacks, pumpkins, chains and free hand Halloween drawings. They also dramatized several stories, among which were Little Black Sambo and Chicken Little. These activities are in addition to the regular schedule of primary education dealing with relationships with others.

During the month of November, children will make drawings and cut-outs of Pilgrims, turkeys and other scenes depicting Thanksgiving. They will also prepare playlets and learn little poems and songs about the Pilgrim Fathers.

A visit to the kindergarten rooms is a rewarding experience for one "sees happy children enjoying themselves in pleasant learning situations," school officials observe.

Girl Scouts Sell Timber For Camp Building Fund

Adults in Manistique who have noted how "good for business" it was to have pipeliners here this summer were joined in the thought today by the Manistique Girl Scouts.

A check for $261.60, from sale of right-of-way timber, was presented to the Manistique Girl Scout Council for the Girl Scout building fund.

Lakehead Pipeline Co., Inc., through Bechtel Corporation right-of-way agent, N. W. James, donated timber on right-of-way obtained from the City of Manistique to the Scouts.

The Scouts in turn sold the timber, through Atty. William F. Hood, a member of the Girl Scout Timber Trail Camp Association building committee, to Mark Schurer of Manistique.
